PART I.

NOTIFICATIONS BY THE GOVERNMENT OF MYSORE.

GENERAL AND REVENUE.

No. 180, dated, Camp Mysore, 20*th February* 1897.

Intimation has been received from the Government of India that Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India has telegraphed that should the Bubonic plague appear in the Hedjaz, pilgrims cannot be allowed to enter Egypt until it has disappeared, and that pauper pilgrims cannot be allowed to leave Egypt.

No. 218, dated, Camp Mysore, 22*nd February* 1897.

The following Notification issued by the Government of India is re-published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

Government of India, Home Department, Notification dated the 20*th February* 1897.

The question of the suspension of the pilgrimage to the Hedjaz having been under the consideration of the Government of India and Her Majesty's Government, Her Majesty's Government have now come to the conclusion that in consequence of the strong opinions of all European Governments, including Turkey, regarding the danger of plague being communicated to Europe, it is impossible to meet their demands by any measure short of the suspension of the pilgrimage for the time being. The Governor-General in Council is therefore pleased, under Section 2, sub-section 1, of the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897, to order that the pilgrimage to the Hedjaz shall be altogether suspended for the current season.

No. 9816—Mis. 1828, dated 2*nd March* 1897.

Under Article 171 of the Mysore Service Regulations, Mr. P. Palpu, Assistant Surgeon, was granted casual leave of absence for two days from the 7th February 1897.

No. 9819—Mis. F. 162-92, dated 2*nd March* 1897.

3rd Class Hospital Assistant Muhammed Hussain, having rendered approved service during his probationary period, is confirmed with effect from the 26th July 1895.

No. 8967—Mis. 1707, dated 6th February 1897.

The following instructions relative to the Bubonic plague, framed by the Senior Surgeon and Sanitary Commissioner and approved by Government, are published for general information—

Instructions for Police Officers, Station Masters and other Officials to enable them to recognise persons suffering from the plague, with directions for segregation and treatment.

1. In order to recognise the disease, ask the patient these questions :—

Have you come from any place where the plague is prevalent ?
Did you get suddenly ill ?
Have you been ill only a short time ?
Did you feel fever come on with shivering ?
Have you a head-ache ?
Do you feel sick or have you been vomiting ?

A man who has the plague will answer "Yes" to all these questions.

Then feel his skin, it will be hot ; and look at and feel his arm-pits and groins ; if there is a painful swelling in one of these places, it is a sign of the plague. Also look at his face, he looks ill and has an anxious expression of face ; sometimes his eyes are blood-shot.

With regard to cases without buboes, it is difficult for non-medical men to recognise them, but if a man looks very ill and has high fever with cough, he should be regarded as a doubtful case of the plague until he can be seen by a medical man.

2. Send at once for the nearest medical man and at the same time inform your superior officer, by wire, if possible.

3. If medical aid is not available, the following steps should be taken :—

(1) The patient should be isolated in a well-ventilated tent, shed or hut, well removed from other dwellings.
(2) The relatives and friends (if any) should be accommodated in a similar shed at no great distance away and should not be allowed to mix with the general public, and in the event of their being poor they should be provided with rations.
(3) The patient's clothes, other than those he is wearing, as also his goods, if of little or no value, should be burnt, all others should be exposed daily for many hours to the sun and air, and where possible boiled, at least twice, in a chatty of water.
(4) The clothes and goods of the relatives should be similarly dealt with.
(5) The excreta, e. g., fœces, urine, sputam and vomit, and any earth soiled by the above, as also all bandages and cloths used as dressings, should be placed in a chatty and burnt dry, the chatty being afterwards broken and the pieces thrown into the fire.
(6) Those in attendance on the patient should be careful to wear shoes, to wash their hands frequently, and scrub them with dry earth or sand. They should, if possible, live in an adjoining hut, and on no account be allowed to mix with the public.
(7) All vessels used by the patient, for whatever purpose, should be disinfected by heating them in fire, until they are so hot that they cannot be touched.
(8) In the event of death, the corpse should on no account be washed or cleaned, but simply wrapped in a sheet or blanket, and, where caste allows of it, cremated at once. If buried, it should be enclosed in quicklime, not less than six feet below the surface, and not near any tank, stream or nallah.

4. In case of recovery, the above rules for disinfection should continue to be enforced for ten days, as infection is still likely to occur during that period.

5. Treatment—

(1) Stimulants and any food that the patient may have an inclination for should be given.
(2) Open sores should be well washed with hot water and kept carefully covered to protect them from flies and other insects.
(3) When available, the patient's skin should be rubbed with carbolised oil.

N. B.—Attendants do not easily catch the disease from a patient, but they should be careful to wash after being with him.
